To Whom It May Concern:

I own a small animal veterinary practice in Fort Myers, Florida. After several years of practice in a 1250 square foot facility, we were desperate for more space. We contracted with Ringland Construction to expand our facility into the adjacent rental space. We were very concerned about being able to continue practicing as the construction progressed. Russ Ringland and our project manager, John, assured us they could control the dust and noise and work weekends in order to get the job done without interfering with our day to day practice. They were true to their word, and our project came in on time and on budget. Of course there were some minor issues, but I was able to reach Russ Ringland personally by phone at almost any time and I found him to be very reasonable and helpful. In short, should I have need in the future for construction services, I would certainly contact Ringland Construction.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Ankenbrandt, DVM
